

Retail - Minos

Whatever the Channel

Minos has the possibly unique ability to handle all the business processes involved in purchasing, distributing, retailing and e-tailing products defined by their product type, style, colour or size.

Whatever the information

Minos has the inbuilt facility to drill down, dice, slice and present in a format your management needs to make the right decisions for growth.

Whatever the Function

Minos has specialised functions for mail order, web trading, wholesale and retail using common databases for replenishment, pricing, distribution and customer marketing. Minos is a thin client application giving broad flexibility for data entry and maintenance. Once received Minos then takes that data and allows you to dice and slice it - presenting it in the format necessary to make the right decisions for growth.

Whatever the Sales Method

For retail Minos EPoS is a fully configurable and integrated application which is both fast and very reliable. Minos can also process sales from the web (trade or retail), agency and party marketing sales via PDA's, wholesale order entry and direct telemarketing. Being a thin client solution data can be processed as it happens.

Whatever your Business

Whatever your business if you are selling across multiple channels then Minos is the product for you. It has the flexibility to cope with the demands of different product sets with product group, style, size and colour.

Whatever the Customer

Whatever the customer, be they a child or an adult, trade or retail, whether they buy regularly or only every so often it is imperative that you build up a "one to one" relationship with them. Minos allows you to capture all the necessary information so that you can provide them with the right product, at the right price, available through the right channel.

"We have a completely integrated system from OneSys Retail including EPoS, Mail Order and Accounts. Minos provides a complete overview of our business - making replenishing and essential business processes even easier."

Nick Dean Managing Director, Lakefield Marketing

"OneSys Retail is O'Neill's strategic IT partner. OneSys Retail go beyond 'off the shelf' functionality to design solutions that meet our particular needs, always delivering to time and, most importantly, within the budget."

Trevor Storey Financial Director, O'Neill Sports
